Barricade Stops Noisy Trucks, But Speeders Almost Smash It

By VIOLA KLUG
FR 5-5928

It seems as though the barricade at Palos Verdes Blvd. and Ave. E at Redondo has solved one of our problems, that of the heavily laden sand trucks. They started early in the morning and passed all day. Sometimes the vibrations shook the house as they passed. We tried to stop them, but no luck. It took a barricade to give us peace and quiet again.

As I sit and watch cars approach the barrier, I see how carelessly some folks drive. They don't see the barrier until they are upon it in the daytime. Any night now, we expect to hear someone crash through it.
